IN THE CORPORATION COURT OF THE CITY OF ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA.

The First National Bank of Alexandria, Va., a corporation organized under the laws of the United States, who sues, etc., complainant, vs. Lee C. Bradley, executor of the Last Will and Testament of L. C. Leadbeater, deceased, Dorey Sewell Leadbeater, Clara Lee Leadbeater, an infant under the age of 14 years, and Laurence Chandice Leadbeater, an infant under the age of 14 years, defendants.

To: The First National Bank of Alexandria, Va., a corporation, Lee C. Bradley, executor of the Last Will and Testament of L. C. Leadbeater, deceased, Dorey Sewell Leadbeater, Clara Lee Leadbeater, an infant under the age of 14 years, and Laurence Chandice Leadbeater, an infant under the age of 14 years, and to the creditors of the said L. C. Leadbeater, deceased.

Take notice that I have fixed upon Thursday, the Third day of October, 1918, at 128 South Fairfax street, Alexandria, Va., at 10 o'clock a. m., as the time and place when I will proceed to execute the decree of the Corporation Court of the City of Alexandria, Va., rendered on the 7th day of August, 1918, in a certain Chancery cause therein depending where The First National Bank of Alexandria, Va., a Corporation, is Complainant, and Lee C. Bradley, Executor, etc., et al., are Defendants, by the terms of which decree I am required to ascertain and report as follows:

First: The creditors of L. C. Leadbeater, and their priorities, if any.
 Second: The estate, real or personal, in the State of Virginia, of which the said L. C. Leadbeater died seized and possessed.
 Third: The liens, if any, on said estate, with their orders and priorities.
 Fourth: Any other matter or thing that any party to this cause may require or to said Special Commissioner may seem proper.

At which time and place you are required to attend and prove whatever claims you may have against the estate of the said L. C. Leadbeater, deceased.
 Given under my hand this 4th day of September, 1918.
 H. NOEL GARNER,
Special Commissioner.

WILL THE GERMAN HEDGE?

Pan-Germanism has been promoted for 20 to 30 years by some 50 societies of which the Pan-German League, which began operations a little more than 25 years ago, has always been the most active and the most bellicose though not the largest. In its early days the Government resisted its demands—and then yielded to them. Down to the eve of the war it was the custom in Germany to speak of the league as an inconsiderable association of fanatics, but the league was steadily increasing its power over public opinion, or rather its power to create public opinion, and its influence over the Government.

The successes of the league in 1892 were responsible for the passing of the military law of 1893. Chancellor von Caprivi, hated by the League on account of his moderation was thanked by it in 1894. In 1895 the League petitioned for a naval station in China and suggested Kiau-chau, and in 1897 the Government took it. In 1896 the publications of the League pointed out Asia Minor as a field for German enterprise and arranged William II's journey to Jerusalem, which was made in 1898. In 1895 the League began clamoring for a part of the old Spanish colonies. 1898 Dr. Hasse published in the organ of the League an attack on the Kaiser for not executing the League's instructions fast enough, whereupon in 1899 the Government annexed a part of the Samoan Islands and the Carolines.

For a little while the course of the Kaiser was peaceful, and in 1902, at his congress in Eisenach, the League, through a report made by its president demanded that the Kaiser should give up the direction of imperial policy because it was responsible for the loss of prestige which Germany had suffered since Bismarck's day. Alarmed at this, the Kaiser made a spectacular visit to Tangier and insisted that France should dismiss Delcasse, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, who was particularly hateful to the League.

This brief sketch of the League as the power behind the Kaiser and the Government and public opinion is worth recalling now because Herr Fehrenbach, president of the Reichstag tells his people that it is not impossible to hope for an armistice before winter "despite the enemy's hellish shouting." But he couples this with the warning that "it will however, be necessary for the Government to take a determined stand against the Pan-Germans."

The Pan-Germans are the fire-eaters the last ditchers. They educated the country for this war for 25 years. This was their work, and they have been the chief shouters for a "German peace" and for the annexation of Belgium, much of France and the Baltic provinces of Russia. And now in holding out the possibilities of peace before the German people, Fehrenbach says the Government must take a determined stand against them. It looks as if it might be significant.

In holding out the hope of an armistice before winter, he betrays the unwillingness of the German people to suffer a fifth winter. When November brings the Reichstag together, and more defeats have been suffered by the German army, and the fresh vegetables are gone, and the weather is getting colder, the people are likely to make themselves heard in Potsdam—Prussia. Record.

TRAIN HITS AUTOMOBILE

Four Persons Killed at Crossing Near Greenville, N. C.

Greenville, N. C., Sept. 23.—William E. Wheeler, Seth Corbett, Miss Lizzie Corbett, of Walstonburg, and Miss Marie Sawyer, of Camden County, were killed about a mile west of this city this Friday when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Norfolk and Southern passenger train. The accident occurred at a crossing during a rainstorm, and it is thought the driver failed to see the approaching train. Miss Ruby Burch, of Walstonburg, the only surviving member of the party, was seriously injured, but physicians say she will recover.

Miss Corbett and her brother were students at the Winterville High School, of which Miss Sawyer was music teacher. They were en route to Walstonburg to spend the week-end.

News of the torpedoing of the American steam trawler, Knapfisher, on the fishing banks eighty-five miles off the coast on Friday was received at an Atlantic port yesterday when the captain of the trawler and the twenty-six members of the crew arrived after having rowed ashore in lifeboats. Captain Riley said the U. S. boat which fired the torpedo stood by to see the effect of the missile, but did not fire any shots at the trawler or the boats.

The Council of National Defense

Urges:

Early Christmas Shopping

The Buying of Useful Gifts

And Carrying of Parcels

The Council of National Defense urges the people of this country to confine their Christmas giving (except to children) to useful articles, to make their purchases during October, November and December, so that the stores will not have to employ larger number of helpers at Christmas time.

They also request the carrying of parcels wherever possible, as a necessary measure of labor conservation.

It is none too soon to BEGIN NOW your Christmas shopping, because if these suggestions are loyally and faithfully put into effect throughout the country it will make possible a continuance of the holiday custom without endangering the national interest thereby.

We have also been requested to place these facts before our public at least once each week, and we trust the response may be so substantial as will not cause a modification of the requestional Defense.

Your Winter's Coal Supply

On account of rulings of the U. S. Fuel Administration, it seems doubtful if Virginia will receive sufficient anthracite coal to supply the demands. If present rulings are maintained, this shortage will be very great in Alexandria and we earnestly advise our customers to put in a reasonable amount of bituminous coal as a safeguard against a coal shortage next winter.

We are now securing some very fine bituminous coal which we believe will work in all characters of coal burners but the ratrobe stoves.
